

WOMEN OF STATE
RALLY TO DEFENSE
OF MRS. STANNARD

Deadlock In Civil Service
Body Sustains Matron's Removal.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO APPEAL HER CASE

I'm Vindicated By Attorney
General And Public Opinion, She Says.

Columbus, July 13.—Women of Ohio rallied to the defense of Mrs. May Stannard, former matron of the girls' industrial school at Delaware, today after a deadlock vote of the state civil service commission had sustained the order of State Welfare Director Harper, removing her from office.

Officials of the Ohio League of Women's Voters and the State Federation of Women's Clubs went into conference to decide what action will be taken.

"The women of Ohio will go as far as possible to reinstate Mrs. Stannard," was the announcement. "Plans for carrying the case to the state supreme court, if necessary, are being made."

Mrs. Stannard issued a brief statement.

"If the state of Ohio by the vote of one man can decide against me that is the state's responsibility," she said. "I came to this state backed by national welfare organizations and upon the invitation of the former director of public welfare."

Vindicated By Public
"For 13 months I gave the best I had. I was vindicated by the attorney general, women's organizations, newspapers and public opinion."

Director Harper declared in a statement today that no impartial court in the country could have done otherwise.

"However, I am greatly surprised at the split in the commission," he added. "The testimony at the hearing definitely substantiated our charges of neglect of duty, malfeasance in office and inefficiency."

In spite of the ferore of activity inspired in women's political circles by the removal and action of the commission, Harper said he did not anticipate any political consequences.

Rollin Swisher, Democratic member of the civil service commission, affirmed Director Harper's order of dismissal.

Wm. S. Bundy, Republican member, voted to reinstate Mrs. Stannard.

Under the law in case of disagreement of the commission, equivalent to a deadlock, the dismissal order stands.

No statement was issued by the commission relative to the decision, aside from the mere vote of the two members.

RAILROAD BRIDGE
IS PLACED ENDING
SIX-YEAR PROJECT

C. & P. Span Is Linked Up
In 25 Minutes; Eliminates Hill Grade.

Kensington, July 13.—In 25 minutes here today the final touch was put upon a railroad engineering project which has cost several millions of dollars since it was begun six years ago.

The steel span of the new Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad bridge, which had been under construction for months, was slowly swung into place with the aid of two huge winches and 20 powerful jacks.

Fifty workmen at once fell to with spikes and heavy hammers. Within three hours the series of tracks which had rested upon the old bridge were solidly in place on the new structure and trains were roaring through.

Grade Is Eliminated
The project's completion not only comprises a real engineering feat, but spells the end of the famous Salineville hill grade, known as the steepest in the county.

Today the tracks of the railroad run through Kensington on a level 14 feet above the old roadbed and the extreme grade has been reduced to a nominal one of three-tenths of one per cent.

Millions of cubic feet of earth were scooped out of the hill by great steam shovels before the present result was possible.

Three hundred and ten tons of steel, resting on a score of rollers, clocked into place between concrete approaches already built, without a hint of difficulty. At the railroad station all was commotion, but otherwise Kensington accepted the completion of the project as an everyday commonplace.

Officials of the railroad were present as trackmen drove the final spikes into the ties above the bridge. Among them were Guy Scott, superintendent; J. L. Taylor, division engineer; G. M. Quinn, engineer in charge; D. G. Musser, master carpenter, and Joseph Cunio, track supervisor. Members of the contracting firm of Cox & Bixby, which handled the job, also were witnesses.

Project Started In 1917
The span is 325 feet. Within a two it will be painted black. The contract for a macadam roadway, commenced on this date.

VOTE ON WATER
ISSUE DELAYED

New Law Will Not Permit Vote On Bond Issue At August
Primaries, Council Postpones It Until November:
Funds For Special Election Lacking.

Voters will not have the opportunity to vote in the August primaries on the proposed bond issue of $300,000 for a new water supply and filtration plant at Cold Run, according to a decision rendered by City Solicitor L. B. Harris at a meeting of city council Thursday night.

Atty. Harris in handing down the decision said that in the last session of the legislature a new law was passed prohibiting all such bond issues to be voted on in any but regular and special elections. The annual primaries are not regarded as regular elections.

This bond issue, which would provide a dam, pumping station and filtration plant, at Cold Run, about seven miles south of the city, will therefore be excluded from the polls Aug. 14, because council believes that in the face of a shortage of funds the cost of a special election would be prohibitive.

The bond issue will come up before November election.

voters in the regular November election.

When council voted June 12 to submit this proposition to the voters any legal barriers were not suspected. The need of a sufficient supply of pure water for the city was foremost in the minds of members of council. They realized that Salem has not a sufficient supply of good water for an emergency.

Accordingly they voted to lay the whole matter before the voters as early as possible after the state engineer had qualifiedly put his official stamp on the proposition and declared that the water was not only fit to drink but would serve the city for many years to come.

Keen regret was expressed by all members of council that this issue could not come up at the August election but finding no funds available for a special election it was decided to withhold the proposition until the November election.

Fine Aged Lisbon
Minister On Charge
Of Beating Horse

Lisbon, July 13.—Rev. Charles E. Pike, 60 years old, a retired minister living on a farm near Lisbon on the Lisbon-Salem rd., was fined $25 and costs here Thursday night on a charge of cruelty to animals.

Chief of Police Ray Lewton and Deputy Sheriff George Wright were summoned to the Pike farm Thursday by neighbors who said they had seen the minister beating a horse. The officers found Pike in a field near the house where he had a horse tied down. He was not beating the horse when the officers arrived but the animal was suffering from many welts and was bleeding from the mouth.

Pike stated that the horse was a vicious beast and that he was trying to conquer it.

COUNCIL TO DRAFT
A DRASTIC LIQUOR
ENFORCEMENT BILL

Post Objects To Ordinance
Under Way And He's Invited To Confab.

REQUEST MAYOR TO MAKE WANTS KNOWN

Doesn't Meet With Council
So Special Invitation
Will Be Sent Him.

A drastic ordinance empowering Mayor John W. Post to hire secret service operatives, special policemen and detectives to hunt and arrest violators of the prohibition laws will be passed at the regular meeting of city council Tuesday night, it was indicated at the special meeting of council Thursday night.

On July 3 council passed at first reading an ordinance that would provide for the hiring of these special rum violator hunters. The operative was to be paid in two ways, namely: up to $10 a day according to what the mayor and safety director believed the officer should be paid, or 25 per cent of the fine paid by the liquor law violator.

This ordinance was given its second reading Thursday night but after the reading Councilman F. J. Eckstein remarked that a more stringent ordinance should be passed. Councilman P. J. Dean declared that "Salem police officers are spotted every time they attempt to make a raid because they are known on sight and a lookout always tips off the place operating a bootleg joint."

Want Mayor To Attend
Councilman L. B. Carson moved that council as a whole and the mayor, safety director and city solicitor meet in special conference before next Tuesday when the ordinance will be passed. At this conference they will draft a more drastic provision for hiring and paying the officers and an ordinance that would be satisfactory to all.

Heretofore Mayor Post has not met with any members of council and talked over the proposed ordinance but Safety Director Hiddesdon told council that Post objects to some parts of the ordinance which has passed two readings.

Councilman Carson, in presenting the motion, moved that the mayor be asked as a special favor to be on hand at the conference for once this year so that council will be able to know just what the mayor and safety director desire in the ordinance.

Council passed an ordinance providing that $5,755.72 of the waterworks sinking fund that was transferred to the waterworks extension fund by the common pleas court be appropriated for purchasing materials and work necessary for laying the water mains, air lines and securing machinery to bring water from the Oana wells to the present main.

RESIDENTS WANT
STREET SURFACED

Would Improve High Street
From Garfield Avenue
To Highland.

Residents of East High st. between Garfield ave. and Highland ave. want the street resurfaced. They presented to city council Thursday night a petition bearing the signatures of two-thirds of the property owners of that section of the street, requesting that a surface of asphalt or willite be laid.

Council referred the petition to the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee. This street was paved with asphalt blocks about 22 years ago.

Residents of Lincoln ave., whose previous request that the street be resurfaced was granted by council, presented a petition Thursday night asking that Willite be designated as the resurfacing material. The petition bore the signatures of more than two-thirds of the property owners.

Council will ask the engineer for an estimate of cost and the committee will consider the plea.

He told the district attorney his entire personal fortune, including his life insurance, had been lost in the crash.

DRIVER IS INJURED
AS CAR HITS BANK

Columbiana Man Hurt, Auto
Wrecked In Accident On Albany Hill.

Rounding the curve in the road just this side of Albany at 1 a. m. Friday, James Case, 21, of Columbiana, was injured and three companions shaken up as their car struck a high bank on the left side of the road.

Case, who was driving the machine, was unfamiliar with the section of the road and proceeding at a fast rate he tried to make the turn which at this point is very sharp, by hugging the left of the road to avoid going over the steep hill on the right of the road.

The party, which was on its way to Salem after a visit to Idora park, Youngstown, was thrown out of the car as it struck the bank. As Case fell he caught his left foot in the door of the car, badly wrenching it. The car was wrecked. Both left wheels were torn off and both axles broken. The fenders were ground to bits.

Case was picked up and placed in the car of a passing motorist some time later and brought to a Salem doctor's office where the injured man was treated and later taken to his home in Columbiana. It is reported Friday that he is resting easily.

Council appropriated funds for the final half of the year and included in the appropriation an increase in salary sought by the fire and police departments two months ago.

This ordinance, regarded as certain to pass at the regular meeting of council Tuesday night, does not provide increases in salary for any other departments. Firemen and policemen who are on duty over 100 hours each week council regard as worthy of the increase and it is said that if more funds were available a larger increase than $5 would be granted.

Appropriations for the final six months of 1923 include $4,115 for the general fund; $11,220 for the safety fund; $1,820 for health; $14,302.02 in the service fund; hospital fund $279.15; waterworks fund $38,028.50.

BALDWIN'S POLICY
FOR REPARATIONS
DISAPPOINTS PARIS

General Approval But Lack Of Enthusiasm Noted
In England.

Paris, July 13.—The French government is greatly disappointed in Premier Stanley Baldwin's statement of England's reparations policy, it was learned today because of its condemnation of the Ruhr occupation and its failure to condemn passive resistance.

It is not expected, it was said, that the proposals in the forthcoming British note to Germany will be any more acceptable to France than Bonar Law's proposal of last January.

London, July 13.—General approval, but a noticeable lack of enthusiasm marks the reaction today to Premier Stanley Baldwin's statement of the British reparations policy.

Approval comes from the fact that England has at last made a move. The lack of enthusiasm is due to the uncertainty as to what the move constitutes.

Express Disappointment
Disappointment is expressed in two quarters. Lord Rothmere's papers express displeasure that the premier did not castigate Germany. The Liberal press is displeased because it sees in the statement only the continued dragging out of negotiations with France.

Foreign office experts, it is learned, have already partially completed the draft of the British note to Germany that will be submitted to the allied nations for approval. It is not expected to be ready for transmission to the other powers, however, before Tuesday or Wednesday.

The note probably will accept in principle the German suggestion for a commission to inquire into Germany's economic condition and determine her capacity to pay.

The note will also suggest a revision of the guarantees submitted by Germany in her last reparations note and will suggest an end of passive resistance.

This will make it possible for France to join the negotiations without loss of dignity as Premier Poincaré has repeatedly said he would not discuss reparations with Germany until passive resistance in the Ruhr was abandoned.

The Leviathan Sails

WE have reason to feel pride in the Leviathan. Her refitting cost this people $3,000,000. If she—the last word in passenger-ship construction—shall be the means of inspiring greater effort in the rebuilding of an American merchant marine she will many times have repaid the cost of her rehabilitation.

Mr. Lasker may, or may not, deserve the criticism of those who choose to question his methods and policies, but the fact remains that he has turned over to the nation the mightiest of all ocean-going vessels, a monster thing which plows the seas through storm or calm with the speed of a railway train, a ship capable of carrying the population of a considerable town, a vessel as comfortable, luxurious and beautiful as an emperor's palace.

Nothing quite like this new Leviathan ever before was known in the maritime history of the world. Naturally, we are proud, and hopeful that the great vessel will so demonstrate her practical efficiency that in time she may have sister ships, many of them, to enlarge America's marine service to proportions which shall stand second to none in the world.

The nation which has the ships leads the van of progress. No nation can be great without them. They are the instruments through which all material and spiritual influences are carried and extended to the ends of the earth. There should be American ships under the American flag on every sea, in every port. Not only should we have the biggest fastest and safest ships, but more of them than any other nation. That is common sense and good business.

The urge to such accomplishment has inspired the president to tremendous personal effort. He discarded the bogey of "subsidy" and he is right. Perhaps the people of the republic some day soon may be able to perceive, at least partially the splendor of this vision which beholds America as the master marine power of the world. Let us hope that this may be so.

Perhaps the Leviathan may do much in the way of developing the clouded vision of those who have refused to see what the president and many citizens so clearly see—the stately ships of America in stupendous possession of the highways of the ocean and the commercial trade of the world.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.
(Registered in Accordance With The Copyright Act)

LIKE A HOUSE—THE VESTIBULE
In likening that body of yours to a house I can only compare your mouth to the vestibule. I mean the average house.

When somebody calls he is first admitted to the vestibule. If you know him, or he looks all right he is admitted to the house. Once past the vestibule and he is in your household.

Similarly with food. If you know the food, or have satisfied yourself that it is all right, you allow it to pass out of the mouth and down the throat. Thus while it is in the mouth you can do your own choosing and considering. Once it passes through it is beyond recall and enters the tube leading to the stomach.

Thus if food doesn't taste just right, has a musty of "bad" flavor you can expel it before it does any damage to that body of yours.

And situated in the mouth are the teeth that grind up the food and saliva to moisten it and make certain changes in it chemically.

I like to think of the teeth and saliva as servants who interview the food coming in. They say to the food, "Well, you may look all right, but no matter how good you look, all food looks alike to us, and we've got to make you presentable before you get past the vestibule (mouth)."

You see food in its natural state cannot be digested and so the teeth and saliva get busy, the teeth grinding and grinding away on the food until it is in very small particles.

Meanwhile the saliva has been softening it with its liquid portion, and changing the starchy parts of the food into sugar. Thus if you do not chew your food, and get it moistened and changed in the mouth, you let it pass down into the stomach in an un-presentable condition.

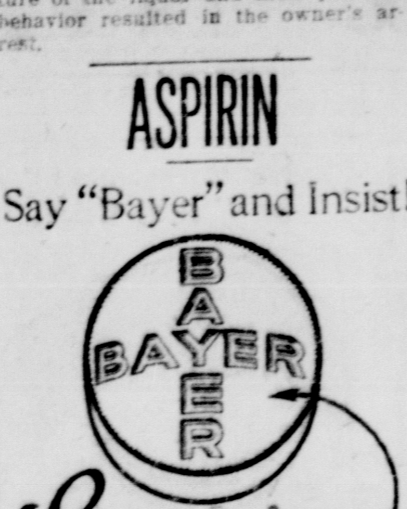

Thus your poor stomach in an effort to get the food ready to go further along and be in a presentable condition tries its best to make up for the lack of work done in the mouth. But you see the stomach hasn't any teeth and cannot do it as well as the mouth.

So let each part do its bit. Let your mouth do the work it was intended to do.

THE WOMAN POWER OF AMERICA is well illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every line of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop weak, nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headaches, backache, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to her sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this old fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. It holds the remarkable record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it.

4 HOMES WRECKED BY DYNAMITE BUT OCCUPANTS ESCAPE

Home Of Union Leader Who Refused To Call Strike Is Dynamited.

Pittston, Pa., July 13.—Four homes in this city, one of them that of Alex Campbell, leader of the insurgent element of the United Mine Workers of America in the Pittston district, and one of the foremost union leaders in Luzerne county, were dynamited within a period of 15 minutes, starting at 2 o'clock this morning.

Front porches were blown into atoms and furniture wrecked and persons thrown from their beds, but no one was injured.

The first explosion took place at the home of Campbell, the second, a few moments later at the home of Charles Alba, the third at the home of Michael Desalvo and the fourth at the home of Joseph Martinell.

Campbell is chairman of the general grievance committee of the Pennsylvania Coal company and the Hillside Coal and Iron company. He had just returned home yesterday from Atlantic City, where he was in attendance at the joint conference of the anthracite miners and mine owners, sitting to fix amicable agreements.

Campbell last night presided at a meeting of the grievance committee and turned down the proposition to call a general strike in the Pittston district due to petty grievances existing at several of the Pennsylvania Coal company's collieries.

Strikes have been in effect at the No. 6 and 9 collieries of the Pennsylvania Coal company for the past two weeks over the seniority question.

DONAHEY ORDERS SHERIFFS, MAYORS TO ENFORCE LAW

Columbus, July 13.—In the prosecution of his warfare against gambling and minor games of chance, Gov. A. V. Donahey today addressed himself to the task of checking up on the mayors of six Ohio towns and villages and four county sheriffs, in whose bailiwicks offenses have been reported.

Letters were sent to the officials, advising them that baseball pools, slot machines, gum vending machines, punch boards or similar devices of petty gambling were being operated and asking that prompt action be taken looking to their suppression. Summary action by the governor is threatened against the officials, unless prompt and effective results are obtained.

The total number of mayors to whom the governor has addressed himself in his reform drive to date is thus brought up to 13, with some seven sheriffs also called upon to lend a hand.

Mayors who were warned Thursday by the governor to stop violations of the law in their communities are: Samuel Orr of Newark, P. A. Koppe of Logan, W. V. Koons of Chaucery, Thomas B. Alexander of Put-in-Bay, F. W. Bridges of Haskins and Leslie Wycoff of Chagrin Falls.

Sheriffs who received letters are: "Bob" Ewing of Augalze county, former Cincinnati baseball star; Fred H. Vogelmeier of Licking county, Charles N. Moore of Noble county and W. W. Scheidegger of Wyandot county.

VOCATIONAL AG COURSE POPULAR

Many Ohio High Schools Offer 4-Year Course In Agriculture.

One hundred and thirty-one High schools of the state will offer four year courses in agriculture next year according to the record of pre-approvals on file in the State Department of Education. This represents a net increase of 18 over the previous year.

The duties of the teachers vary widely. Each teacher's program of instruction is based on the agriculture of the community in which he is located. In addition to the courses offered to full time students in High school, short course instruction is usually offered to those not enrolled in the regular High school classes. During the past year 75 short courses were thus organized with an enrollment of more than 1400 students. Working with the farm bureau and grange, vocational agriculture teachers also promote general agriculture activities in their respective communities.

Teaching through the home project is a vital feature of vocational agriculture instruction, each of the 3,000 students enrolled in the four-year courses is conducting at least one home project each year. These projects are "man size." Corn projects average 8A, wheat projects 12 A, oats projects 10 A, orchard projects 48 trees, swine feeding projects 14 pigs. Other projects are proportional in size. Experience in production and marketing is thus secured under practical farm conditions.

Along with agriculture, students also secure courses in English, science, social subjects, and mathematics, so as to secure a broad High school training.

beath the span, permitting travel through one of the principal streets which intersects the railroad, will be let at once. In the center will be a driveway, with sidewalks at each side, driveway, with sidewalks at each side. Concrete steps lead from the street to the station platform. The latter building was moved some time ago from its old site up to the present grade.

Work on the elimination of the Salineville hill grade was begun in April, 1917, and continued until January, 1919, when the effects of the war halted further construction. It was resumed in April, 1922, since which time the immense cut has been under way and tracks have been shifted to the higher level.

Construction of the span at no time interfered with railroad traffic. The old span was used by trains while the new one slowly rose beside it, supported by temporary wooden timbers. At a given signal men manned the winches and the steel span steadily slid into place as the old span was torn down.

URGE REDUCTION IN WHEAT ACREAGE TO CHECK SLUMP

Washington, July 13.—Only drastic reductions in the wheat acreage in all the chief wheat exporting countries can relieve the present world wheat situation. This is the conclusion reached by a committee of fifteen economists and statisticians called together by the Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace to consider the foreign and domestic demand for farm products, and which today made public its report.

Coming as it does just as the wheat markets have experienced unprecedented slumps, the report will attract more than ordinary attention. That the markets might not be further depressed by the conclusions set forth, the expert committee specifically states that the facts on the agricultural outlook already are familiar to the trade and have been "discounted in the markets."

The expansion in the wheat area of the chief exporting countries, coupled with the decreased buying power of western Europe is responsible for the price situation which now prevails," says the committee.

"That's It's Answer" That is its answer to the question universally asked since wheat harvest, "What's behind the big slump in the wheat markets?"

Although all sorts of remedies have been proposed, from that of the American Farm Bureau Federation for the storage of some 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, to others for the government to purchase the surplus, the committee makes no recommendation as to the immediate problem. It simply states that all the nations must reduce their wheat acreage.

Chinese Bandit Chief Who Captured Americans.

This is the first photograph to reach America of Kuo Tsai Chi, the leader of the Chinese bandits who looted the Shanghai-Peking railroad train, capturing many foreigners, including a number of Americans, who later were released. The photograph was made by Lloyd Lehrbas, Chinese correspondent of the International News Service, who was captured, but escaped and gave America the first eyewitness story of the kidnapping.

MAPPING THE EUROPEAN SKY

Work of Photographers, It is Believed, Will Be Productive of Highly Important Results.

An ambitious scheme to map the entire sky of Europe is being carried out under the direction of the British weather bureau. The bureau, as a preliminary to the larger undertaking, has already successfully mapped the sky of France. Professional weather observers, as well as amateur photographers, in all parts of the continent are to be asked to assist. The work is intended to help the science of meteorology, the progress of which in recent years has been due in no little measure to the synoptic cards on which are reported simultaneous observations made at different stations. It is thought that even more important results and much more useful data will be obtained from synoptic photographs of the sky. The photographers will be asked to co-operate on lines much the same as were adopted in mapping the sky of France, an undertaking that was completed a month ago, and the results of which are now being analyzed. Exposures will be made daily, probably over a period of a week or two, twice a day, once at 9 o'clock in the morning and again in the afternoon. The photographs will be sent to the national weather bureau, where the causes of the weather conditions at the time will be retraced from them.

seated with a red rose by the worthy matron.

Gifts were presented Mrs. Thomas, the inspecting officer, and Mrs. J. D. Dewees, this city, deputy grand matron. Officers of Salem chapter honored the worthy matron, Mrs. Howard Chamberlain, when they gave her an Eastern Star ring, and William Turner, worthy patron, to whom they gave a fountain pen. Included in the ceremonies was a vocal solo, "Joy of the Morning," by Mrs. Charles Cornwall, which was beautifully rendered.

Grand officers guests of the chapter on this occasion, aside from Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Dewees, were Mrs. Eva Ashley, Leetonia, grand chaplain; Mrs. Frank Fidler, East Liverpool, rand Ada; Mrs. Lawler, Youngstown, grand Esther.

These visiting worthy matrons and worthy patrons were included in the guest list:

Mrs. Shearer, Cadiz; Mrs. Men, Minerva; Mrs. Hart, Salineville; Mrs. Schofield, Leesville; Mrs. Quick, Alliance; Mrs. Strickler, Columbiana; Mrs. Wilson, Hanoverton; Mrs. Stambaugh, Leetonia; Miss Lowery, East Palestine; Mrs. Pritchard, Lisbon; Mr. Board, Columbiana; Prof. Wagner, Carrollton, and Mr. Rankin, Leetonia. Honor Awarded Scots.

The best English is spoken in Glasgow, or at least John Massfield says so. Mr. Massfield has given Englishmen a shock with this statement. While the Scots have consistently argued for decades past that the best English is to be found in Scotland, and especially in Edinburgh, it remained for Massfield, himself an Englishman, not only to accord the highest honors to Scotland but to hang them on Glasgow. English members of parliament, however, are not willing to accord any such distinction to the members of the Scottish labor party, as the latter are frequently hard to understand in debate. Massfield, who recently was judge at a Glasgow music festival, declared that the quality of speech of Glasgow children came as a revelation, and added that the children promised to be the best speakers of English. He even went farther and said he fancied there might be a time when the Scots would be the best singers of the musical world.

Americans Will Preserve Marathon Course.

Dr. John H. Finley, noted New York educator, vice-chairman of the Near East Relief commission, in an address in Athens, Greece, announced a plan for the American co-operation in preserving the original site of the famous Marathon course. Dr. Finley is president of the International Pedestrians' league and recently completed a hike over the full distance from Marathon to Athens.

Farmers Will Renew War Against Hessian Fly, The Wheat Pest

Lisbon, July 12.—Faced again by the Hessian fly menace, Columbiana county is to be the battleground of renewed warfare against the wheat pest in the form of a campaign for "fly-free zones," according to the Columbiana County Farm Bureau.

the Ohio agricultural authorities, wheat may be planted with the knowledge that danger from Hessian fly is past. This practice has been heeded for several years, but last year was not strongly pressed and as a result many wheat fields this summer show signs of the ravages of the insect, according to C. E. Rowland, Farm Bureau agent.

In 1921 the Ohio Experiment station set Sept. 28 as the free date for planting, which was widely observed with beneficial results. Investigation revealed the fact that wheat planted Sept. 18 netted losses from the fly of 24 per cent of the yield, but that wheat planted Sept. 27, showed only one per cent loss.

Sept. 25 is to be the date set this year for wheat planting, Mr. Rowland says, and an authority from the experiment station at Wooster will visit the county shortly to aid in the work of interesting all farmers.

Woman Pirate Achieves Fame.

There recently appeared on the river at Hong-Kong, much to the alarm of ship owners and their crews, a woman pirate, who has already taken a heavy toll of loot from vessels. Nothing is known of her, except the fact that she speaks English, wears a serge costume and Wellington boots, and carries a wicked-looking revolver, with which she compels her victims to surrender. Under her are a score or more Chinese brigands, who, although they are cutthroats and robbers, obey her implicitly.

TETANUS KILLS 2 BOYS, 1 GIRL

Injuries On Fourth Prove Fatal As Youth And Girl Die.

East Liverpool, July 12.—Tetanus, received while shooting a pistol here on July 4, caused the death in the East Liverpool City hospital of George H. Long, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Long, Wellsville.

The boy was burned between his fingers by powder from the gun, but it was not until a few days ago that his hand became infected. A doctor was summoned and ordered his removal to the hospital, where he was taken Wednesday. His condition grew worse after he was admitted to the institution, despite efforts of physicians to save his life.

Two Die Here

Stevensville, July 12.—Two more deaths attributable to Fourth of July accidents were recorded today when Carl J. Maher, 20, Stevensville, and Augustus Stencl, 25, Weirton, W. Va., died at a hospital here of lockjaw which developed from burns inflicted by blank cartridge pistols.

Ernest Widger, 19, is reported to be dying in the hospital from the same cause.

Guessing and paying—just as you do with your eyesight. For there is an eyesight standard too. An eye-examination is the standard for normal effective eyesight.

No comparison with what your friends see at the same distance will do anything but mislead you. You cannot see through their eyes nor they through yours. But there are experts in your town who by examining your sight can tell if it is up to standard and if not, they can prescribe glasses to bring it up to standard. HARD TO EXPLAIN SYMBOLS

Cryptic Markings Discovered in Ancient English Hotel Have Proved Puzzle to the Scientists.

Who were the writers of the cryptic symbols which have been discovered on the walls of the ancient Star hotel at Yarmouth, England?

There are about 100 of the signs. They are all in one room, and for hundreds of years they have been hidden by wallpaper. Local antiquarians are puzzled by the designs, which include signs of the Zodiac, a sextant pointing to a cross surmounting a burning lamp, an Egyptian "line of life," figures that resemble a bear, a wyvern and a toad, while predominating over all are the triangle, the arc and the circle.

An authority at the British museum could offer no clue to the origin of the symbols, and for the want of a better explanation, local people are advancing the theory that in the room in which they appear was once the meeting place of a number of Yarmouth men, banded together to overthrow the authority of the Cinque Ports over the local fishing industry.

This episode in the history of the east coast dates back to about 1600, when the inn was a comparatively new building, and it may be that the members of their band, to preserve the secrecy of their identity, were known by "tokens," which they inscribed upon a roll on the wall.

ODD PRINCIPLE OF HEREDITY

Facts Only Are Known, and Causes of Peculiarity Have Not Been Satisfactorily Explained.

One of the most striking instances of the Mendelian principle of heredity is that which is exhibited by the breeding properties of the Andalusian fowl, an exchange states. The blue Andalusian fowl owes its popularity to the public, and its interest to the student of heredity, to its color. This is a slaty blue-gray. If two birds of this strain are mated, it is found that they do not breed true. Besides the blue birds which hatch out, there will also be a certain number of blacks, and of whites, with occasional black points. If the blues thus produced are mated the odd-colored ones will again appear among their offspring, and no amount of breeding from the blues alone will rid them of the black and white blood which will crop out at every generation, although blue birds only are mated every time.

The principles involved are called the Mendelian principles, after their discoverer, Gregor Johann Mendel, abbot of a monastery at Brunn, Austria, after eight years of patient experimenting in his cloister garden with plants, chiefly edible peas.

Audiences Throw Off Heat

Exciting plays and motion pictures cause the bodily temperature of audiences to rise and result in the throwing off of heat so that judicious theater owners utilize such plays as a substitute for fuel, according to a Boston professor of note, who says that he had made actual tests on theater audiences in Boston playhouses, and asserts that many theater owners observing this phenomena lower their heat supply as acts approach "the end." Fat persons, according to Professor Miller, give much more heat than thin ones as well as greater moisture, which is also beneficial since the average theater atmosphere is rather dry. —Scientific American.

Eastern Hauteur

The sister of one of my friends recently married a Bostonian, writes Baid Leonard in the New York Morning Telegraph. "And where are you from, my dear?" asked an ancient dowager, surveying her through a lorgnette at the first function given for her in her husband's home town. "From Texas and Missouri." "Mercy! Is it necessary to mention both places?"

UTILITIES BOARD SHY OF FUNDS

Must Operate Soon Under the Bus and Truck Law.

APPROPRIATION ONLY $10,000

State Securities Commissioner Battling Against Eleventh Hour Drive on the Part of Fake Stock Sale Men—Building and Loan Association Solving Housing Problem in Ohio—State Affairs.

Columbus, July 13.—Members of the state utilities commission say the commission will be badly handicapped through lack of funds in the administration of the new Freeman-Collister bus and truck regulatory law, which becomes effective July 27. The request of the commission for an appropriation of $50,000 for operation of the law was cut to $10,000 by the state emergency board. Lack of funds is pleaded by the board in refusing the entire sum requested. "We may be able to operate under the new law for a couple of months," said a member of the commission.

The trouble rises out of the failure of the legislature to appropriate funds for the administration of the law. Under the terms of the latter an extensive system of supervision and regulation is set up, motor buses and trucks being classed with railroads and interurbans as common carriers and subject to regulations similar to those affecting the other media of transportation.

A supervisor in charge of the administration of the laws is to be named by the director of commerce. Clerks and inspectors are to be named also. The emergency board has made provision for one clerk at a salary of $1,800 a year and three inspectors at $1,500 each. In addition to salaries the expenses of the new department must be met out of the greatly reduced appropriation.

City managers, safety directors and other officials of a number of Ohio cities, as well as representatives of bus and truck companies, interurban and steam railroad lines are attending a hearing before the utilities commission, at which the provisions of a tentatively drafted code of rules and regulations for motor transportation throughout the state are being discussed. Two days have been set aside by the commission for this work.

In his report to Governor Donahay, covering the fiscal year ended June 30, J. W. Tannehill, state superintendent of buildings and loan associations, shows that the building and loan associations of the state are in a more prosperous condition than ever in the history of Ohio.

The number of associations in the state increased from 875 in existence at the beginning of the year to 1,044 on June 30, 1923, an increase of 169 associations in one year. This increase far exceeds all former records. The total assets of all associations in Ohio increased from $564,348,517.32 at the beginning of the year to $650,559,276.34, estimating 88 associations that have not yet filed their annual reports. This is a gain in one year in the total assets of Ohio companies of $86,210,858.92. This far exceeds all former records. The increase in 1922 was $38,652,275.58. The largest increase in one year in the past was in 1921 when the gain was $62,901,874.62.

There are at present over 1,250,000 stockholders and 600,000 depositors in Ohio associations. Superintendent Tannehill states that over half the families in Ohio are now doing business with building and loan associations as stockholders, depositors or borrowers. No other business in Ohio approaches this record.

Building and loan associations are rendering the state a great service in helping to relieve the housing situation and reducing rents. Were a half billion dollars of additional funds available to associations to assist in the construction and purchase of homes the rent problem would be solved.

Each building and loan association is required to pay annually to the state to meet the cost of operating the building and loan department $10.00 and in addition one-eighth of one per cent of the assets of the association. The total of such payments for the year was $89,559.06. This was $27,947.75 in excess of the running expenses of the building and loan department.

A bureau of criminal identification will be established in the welfare department as soon as Director John Harper, with the approval of Governor Donahay, names a man to be superintendent. The Herbert law creating such a bureau passed by the general assembly became effective last Sunday.

This bureau will be a clearing house of criminal records and identification. As soon as a person is arrested for a felony, his description will be sent to the state bureau. His measurements will be checked against others in the bureau and if he is found guilty they will be kept. The bureau will co-operate with national and international offices in tracing criminals.

Persons who want anything know that The News is the Want Medium in this vicinity. So read it.

One of the minor Taft taxation measures also became effective Sunday. Under this law, a complete record must be kept on file at the county auditor's office of all tax exempt properties.

The new law increasing penalties for defrauding hotels became effective Monday.

The Ohio Farm Bureau federation, through its traffic department, is co-operating with the various railroads in their campaign for more efficient use of freight cars. A recent bulletin of the federation, sent to all counties in the state, urges prompt loading and unloading of cars so that a greater amount of freight can be moved with the same or fewer cars. Attempt to adjust shipments so that there is a maximum loading of each car also is urged in the bulletin. The movement is aimed to prevent possible car shortage during the heavy shipping season of farm products.

A meeting of the advisory committee, named because of the concessionaires' license bill passed by the last general assembly, was held and the list of applications for concessions was considered. The duty of enforcing this law falls upon the manager of the Ohio state fair, G. R. Lewis.

An advisory committee was recently appointed by Lewis and consists of A. P. Sandles, president of the Ohio fair circuit; Myer Y. Cooper, president of the Ohio Fair Boys' association; R. Y. White, vice president of the same association; Harry Caton, master of the state grange; L. B. Palmer, president of the Farm Bureau federation, and Don A. Detrick, secretary of the Logan county fair. Director of Agriculture Truax attended the meeting.

The concessionaires' law is intended to do away with all gambling devices and catch-penny exhibits on the fair grounds in Ohio. Members of the advisory committee have pledged their support in making this year's fair memorable for the size and quality of their exhibits.

Securities Commissioner Norman E. Beck is encountering a last hour drive on the part of salesmen of spurious stocks in Ohio, in order to do kullblie securities owners out of as much of their money as they can before House Bill 312, establishing a heavy bond for dealers and salesmen of stocks, becomes effective, July 28. The very newest scheme of the fake salesmen and "parlor pirates" is what is called by the authorities the "release game." It is a brand new form of "reloading" worthless or nearly worthless stock on persons already holding the bag, pretty well stocked with the certificates. A salesman will approach a holder of such stock and advise him that there is just a little bit more of it left, that he has been allotted so much and that if he does not want it, will he please sign a release of his "option" on this alleged allotment belonging to him?

Immediately the holder of the stock grows suspicious and believes that if he signs this so-called release he will be signing away his chance to cash in heavily on a stock which he surmises is soon going to boom. The salesman admits that this is the case. So the holder allows the agent to "reload" his "allotment" on him and get away with more of his good money.

Every possible expedient is being employed by the blue sky department to prevent this "release game" from increasing its toll of victims and the fight will be made right up until the Brown-Fouts bill becomes effective. This bill provides a bond of $10,000 for all dealers in stocks and of $5,000 for all agents. It is expected to result in a weeding out of "parlor pirates" in Ohio.

A new law designed to speed up election returns in Ohio is now operative and will be given its first try-out at the August primaries. Drafted by representatives of leading Ohio newspapers and Secretary of State Thad H. Brown, the bill was introduced in the senate by Senator George Bender of Cleveland and in the house by Representative Sylvester Spidel of Dayton. It is expected to overcome much of the delay incident to obtaining the results of the election in some counties and its provisions carry mandatory requirements looking to immediate report of returns to the secretary of state, as chief election officer of the state.

In order to insure immediate results the new law stipulates that the county boards "shall remain in session from the time of the closing of the polls until the results of the election are received from every precinct in the county, and such results communicated to the secretary of state."

The particular provision is included that under no circumstances shall the boards communicate the county results to the secretary of state later than noon, central standard time, on the day following the election. In order to get quick action out of the precinct officials the new statute provides that the count shall "commence and proceed without interruption or delay and in no case shall cease until it is completed, proclaimed and the final result certified as herein required."

Summary removal of all election officials who fail to carry out the provisions of the act is provided for.

The mysterious thing called mental energy is the basis of success in every walk of life.

OHIO WHEAT CROP PROSPECTS BETTER

Columbus, July 13.—An Ohio wheat crop prediction of 34,370,000 bushels was made Friday by C. J. West of the state federal crop reporting service. This is an increase of 2,000,000 bushels over the estimate made last month favorable weather having bettered the crop's condition. The estimate is still 1,000,000 bushels under last year's crop.

Prospects throughout the country are slightly better than a month ago, West said. The estimate of the national crop is 535,000,000 bushels, practically the same as last year. Ohio's corn acreage is 2,569,000, about 2 per cent less than last year. The national acreage shows a 1 per cent increase. Corn conditions in Ohio advanced five points during June. Favorable weather also has increased the chances for a good oats crop, West said.

The state hay crop will be approximately 70 per cent of last year's, from present indications, while the national crop will be about 85 per cent of last year's.

WORST AMONG EVIL SPIRITS

Among Other Misdeeds, Asmodeus is Said to Have Usurped the Throne of Solomon for a Time.

In Jewish demonology Asmodeus was an evil spirit who was said to have possessed what today would be called an X-ray eye. Asmodeus is sometimes jocularly spoken of as destroying matrimonial happiness. In the apocryphal book of Tobias, the Detroit News states, he is represented as loving Sara, the daughter of Raguel and Edna, and causing the death of seven husbands on the bridal night. Tobias, instructed by the angel Raphael, burned the heart and liver of a fish that he caught in the Tigris, and the smell drove the demon into Egypt, where Raphael bound him, leaving Tobias and Sara in peace.

According to the testament of Solomon, Asmodeus brought to Solomon's service the magic worm Shamir, whose touch split stones; he then for a time usurped the throne of Solomon, performing many of the evil deeds attributed to Solomon. Le Sage has made Asmodeus the title character of his "Le Diable Boiteux" ("The Limping Devil, or Devil on Two Sticks"). Asmodeus being fabled as having become lame by breaking his leg. He is released from his prison, a bottle, by Don Cleofas, a young Spanish scholar whom Asmodeus carries in his flight over Madrid, giving him the power of seeing through the roofs and walls of the houses.

TO QUENCH AMERICAN THIRST

Veritable Sea of Soft Drinks Consumed by Thirsty in This Country in a Single Year.

The soft drinks consumed in this country in a single year make up a quantity of liquid refreshment so large that it is hard to conceive of such a volume of varicolored and varifavored waters. If our last year's supply had been available to Methuselah at the beginning of his alleged 969 years, he would have had 8 bottles to dispose of every minute of his mortal span. The cold figures estimated by statisticians tell us that each year thirsty Americans consume 4,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks, and this total does not include beverages such as near beer, made from cereals. This sparkling flood is poured out from 10,000 bottling establishments and over 110,000 soda counters.

This enormous thirst-quenching industry is a relatively recent development, a result of the rapid commercializing of the discoveries of the chemist. Had not great changes taken place in the beverage industry it is hardly probable it would ever have grown to present proportions.

Manners and the Motor.

The Victorian era undoubtedly had its faults but it's passing has taken away a few things which the world would do better to retain. For instance:

The other afternoon three elegantly dressed young gentlemen, driving up Woodward avenue in a large open automobile, espied a young lady of their acquaintance being taken northward in a street car. They moved over under her window, attracted her attention by several blasts of their horn and, by signs and nods, indicated that she should alight at the next stop and climb in with them.

This she did and the last the writer saw was the four of them bowling merrily along in earnest, but obviously very juvenile, conversation.

But—and this is the point of the story—when all these gents on not one of the elegantly dressed young gentlemen removed his hat.—Detroit News.

Church Will Conduct Clinic.

A clinic in which the discoveries of modern medical and psychological science will be invoked to effect cures will be conducted by the Plymouth Congregational church of Seattle, Wash., according to Dr. Chauncey J. Hawkins, its pastor. Plymouth is one of the oldest and largest churches in Seattle.

"This is no fake faith cure proposition," said Doctor Hawkins. "Faith cures, we know that, but faith is not credulity or superstition. Faith must be based on reasonable and working knowledge."

"When some definite and physical cause is at the base of a disease, medical and surgical science will be used. But when the disease is of such a nature that it can be best reached by the psychologist, the patient will be placed under the care of these specialists."

Queen Victoria of Sweden has begun the establishment of a rest cure for women as her investment of the $45,000 which she received on her sixtieth birthday last year, as a gift subscribed by the women of her country, and her popularity has been enhanced more than ever by this act.

The site of the new rest cure is the picturesque island of Oland, in the Baltic, just off the southwest coast of Sweden, where the queen's favorite summer villa, "Soliden," is situated. She has purchased three houses, which will be reconstructed for the new institution.

Outlawed Moth Baggage.

Empty grain bags have been outlawed in Guatemala, their importation being prohibited by presidential decree. The purpose is to prevent the introduction of a moth, called the "gorgojo," found in many of the coffee-producing countries and very harmful to the coffee bean.

Sometime

THE GREAT temple was finished. As it was being applauded, the king pulled aside a curtain and exclaimed: "Behold the ironmaster! To him should be given the credit, for he, not I, is the builder."

And so, too, sometime, when the curtain is lifted—when people understand—the plumber will be hailed as the advance guard of civilization.

He is that and more. He is the preserver of civilization.

For there can be no civilization where there is no running water.

Moses, the world's first sanitarian, understood this. And he taught his people to stay close to the swiftly running streams.

But with the coming of the plumber people could go where they liked—away from rivers and lakes—high in the air—anywhere.

With his pipes the plumber carries running water into every building of every kind; he carries away every disease-laden waste of every kind.

And the two—running water into the buildings and running water out of buildings—have pushed civilization forward and given the world better health and more happiness.

Sometime the people will understand all this. Then the plumber will stand forth—will be crowned for what he is, as was the ironmaster of old. Aye, all this will happen—

Sometime.

Things to Know About Our Service

More Light for Less Money

Turn out two-thirds of the electric lights in your home. At once you carry yourself back ten years. At that time you paid just as much for the remaining light as you now pay for all your light!

Then think back twenty years to the early days of the carbon lamp ("bulb"). So inefficient were these lamps that if we still used them today to produce the amount of light we're accustomed to having, the country's annual electric bill would be one and a half billion dollars higher than it is. Think what a lot of money to save!

Since the days of bustles and Victoria carriages, practically all living costs show huge increases. Electricity has just as steadily decreased in cost. And every year research and experiments by the electrical industry will continue to give you more light for less money.

Willard Knocked Out By Firpo In The Eighth Round

Kingside, Jersey City, N. J., July 13. Willard, the man-mountain from Kansas, went back to fistic oblivion last night but he staged the most futile act of his career before a vast throng of more than 100,000, the greatest in ring history, that filled Boyle's Thirty Acres overflowing.

Willard, the dark-browed giant from the Argentine, closed the door to Willard's attempted return to the fame by knocking out the giant champion in the eighth round in a slashing battle—one of the greatest in recent heavyweight history. Instantly he reached the goal at which he has aimed for the last year, his meteoric rise to prominence—a title for the title with Jack Dempsey.

Willard Game Under Fire

There was no question of the superiority of the brilliant Argentine battler. Willard's superior weight, height and reach enabled the big Kansan to back Firpo's rushing attacks in most of the early rounds but despite the American's gameness under fire, the tide of the battle swung inevitably in favor of the younger more rugged fighter.

The final round opened slowly. They sparred at long range and there was little hint that the end was near. Suddenly Firpo unleashed a savage drive to Willard's head and body. The fury of the attack had never before failed to bring down the South American's quarry and big Jess, despite his towering size and stamina, wilted. Step by step Willard gave ground, trying almost blindly to ward off the volleys of jolts to his head and body. Backed up against the ropes his head sank, then a right shot to the head sent him to his knees. He knelt as Ikeferece Harry Lewis started counting, shaking his head and trying to lift himself up. But the waning strength in that great hulk was unequal to the task and he sank into the arms of his handlers at the final count.

Unable To Rise

Four years ago Willard came up after being knocked down seven times in the first round of the fight in which he lost his title to Jack Dempsey. But while the same courage remained today he could not muster the strength to rise after that devastating attack of Firpo's.

Firpo's greater speed and ability to attack his big target at more angles, gave him an early advantage. But the South American often displayed bad judgment of distance and this, coupled with Willard's ability to block his opponent's rushes, resulted in little effective battling.

Willard, except for an occasional jab with his left, stayed on the defensive, waiting for a chance to shoot in an up-percut. But Firpo, a shifty object, gave him few opportunities.

In the first round, Firpo cut Willard's ear and in the fourth he pummeled the big Kansan about the ring with a drive to the head, Jess absorbed heavy punishment but came back in the next round with his only real offensive. Firpo backed to the ropes under a barrage of blows to the head but Willard failed to follow up his advantage, brief as it was. He seemed lethargic and hesitant to carry the fight to his opponent.

After that one flicker of fistic fire Willard subsided. Firpo paved the way for the end with a slashing attack in the sixth weakening the big Kansan with rights to the body. The end came in the eighth after one minute and 55 seconds of fighting.

259 SHEEP KILLED BY DOGS; CLAIMS TOTAL OVER $4600

County Pays Claims From Dog Tax; Fewer Killed Than Year Ago.

By Harry Stanley
Lisbon, July 12.—Less than half as many sheep were killed during the year ending July 1 as last death from the attacks of dogs during the preceding year figures at the county auditor's office reveal. The total killed in this manner, according to claims submitted by sheep raisers, is 259. The county annually reimburses owners for sheep killed by dogs as one effort to foster the industry here. Owners are required to present the facts to their township trustees, who in turn forward the claims to the county auditor. After approval by paid from the moneys taken in from dog taxes.

In addition to the sheep killed, 38 were reported as injured, the records show. The total paid out on claims was $1,368.19, which, augmented by fees, brought the amount disbursed to $4,623.94. The dog fund had a balance from the preceding year of $5,684.71 which, swelled by the year's tax collections, was brought to $14,988.10. Four thousand dollars was transferred to the educational fund of the county, leaving a balance on hand of $5,464.77.

Helps To Raise Taxes
Thus, the money received from dog licenses more than covers the amount paid out on claims for sheep killed or injured by strange dogs. Wherever possible, the owner of the offending dog is required to pay the damage, but usually sheep fall victims to dogs whose ownership cannot be learned. In this event the county underwrites the loss.

Little fraud is uncovered by the reports, according to Deputy Walker. One effect of the sheep claims, however, has been to raise the taxes of the owners.

One raiser filed a claim some time ago for sheep killed when the tax records failed to show that he had ever owned sheep. As a result, his sheep were listed on the duplicate, he was assessed taxes for two years during which he had owned the sheep and when the claim was paid more than enough money had been received from him to pay it.

Another way in which the sheep claim proves beneficial to county finances is that owners report their sheep at full value for taxation, knowing that should any be killed they would otherwise have difficulty in recovering the value claimed.

Your Refrigerator Is Not Self-Cleaning

One Who Should Know Better Recently Said—

"IT IS a practically impossible task to educate the American housewife to the necessity of keeping the household refrigerator thoroughly clean." We don't agree for a minute. Our interest in seeing customers get right value and full food protection from the ice they buy therefore prompts this advertisement.

The ice you buy from us is clean—but it will melt. When it melts, cold air circulates constantly; purifying foods, protecting flavor. Make the walls of your refrigerator a perfect conductor for this air flow by a thorough cleaning at least once a week.

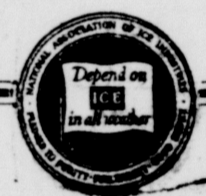

This is a cardinal necessity during these hot days.

"WAIT A MINUTE"

Irritates Many People

DOES your office girl sometimes "get Brown on the line" and then ask him to "wait a minute" while she calls you to talk to him?

Did you ever stop to consider that Brown may not like this very well? He may think that you are imposing on him.

Of all bad telephone habits the one most universally condemned by business men is the "wait a minute" habit. It is a habit that not only causes loss of time and business friendship, but often turns away profitable trade.

When you start a call, the courteous, business-like thing to do is to remain at your telephone and be ready to talk.

When you receive a call do as you want people to do when you call—answer promptly.

The Proper Use of the Telephone by Everyone will Make the Service of Greater Value to ALL.

SENT MILLIONS ON OHIO ROADS

Herrick Reviews the Work of His Administration.

SEVEN ARTERIES COMPLETED

Five Diseases Responsible for One-Half the Deaths in the Buckeye State During the Year 1922—Collection of Liquor Fines Imposed Under the Crabbe Act—Campaign Against Corn Borer in Ohio.

Columbus, July 13.—In a review of his administration, Leon C. Herrick, who retired as state highway director June 30, points out that nearly $50,000,000 was spent on road building and improvement in which the state of Ohio was interested from Jan. 1, 1921, to July 1, 1923. Of this sum the state and federal governments contributed $22,898,181 and the different counties benefiting thereby added about 125 per cent.

Seven highways extending across the state were completed during Herrick's administration. These were the "Three C's highway," running from Cleveland to Cincinnati through Columbus; the National highway, from Wheeling, W. Va., to Richmond, Ind.; the Lincoln highway, from East Liverpool to Delphos; the Dixie highway, from Cincinnati to Toledo; the Scioto trail, from Portsmouth to Sandusky; the Buffalo-Chicago road, from Conneaut to the Indiana line through Wauseon, and the Cleveland-Marietta highway. In addition to these, new roads were improved from one city to another within the state, Herrick reports.

Under contracts let by Herrick before leaving office, the state road program for 1923 will be 927 miles at an average cost of $30,000 a mile. The new director, L. A. Boulay, Toledo, may surpass this by letting contracts for 1,000 miles during 1924 under funds certified by Herrick for the next biennium. During his last weeks as director, Herrick conferred with commissioners from almost every county on their local needs.

The cost of highway work has varied during the last few years, according to Herrick. During 1921, the average cost per mile was $43,800. This dropped to $28,623 during 1922, and rose to $30,000 this year.

According to a report presented to Dr. John B. Monger, state director of health, by I. C. Plummer, state registrar of vital statistics, some one died from cancer in Ohio every 90 minutes of every day of 1922, an increase of 237 deaths over the figures for 1921. The report also shows that of the 68,019 deaths reported to the division during 1922, five diseases were responsible for one-half the total. These diseases were: Heart disease, all forms, 9,656; cerebral hemorrhage, 6,708; pneumonia, all forms, 5,968; cancer, all forms, 5,552; tuberculosis, all forms, 5,130.

Tuberculosis was the only one of these diseases that showed a decrease in the death rate, there being 5,277 deaths in 1921 and 5,130 in 1922. In 1920 cancer exceeded tuberculosis for the first time in history of the bureau, and has led since.

There were 68,019 deaths reported to the division in Ohio for the year 1922, or 919 more than in 1921. However, the death rate is the same for both years, being 11.3 with an estimated increase of population of 102,204.

There were 64,108 white deaths, 2,894 negro and 17 other color. The death rate for the whites showed a decrease, being 11.0 for 1921 and 10.3 for 1922, while the death rate for the negro increased, there being 19.5 in 1921 and 20.7 in 1922 per 1,000 population.

There were 929 fewer deaths under one year of age, there being 8,788 in 1922. The age period from 70-74 years showed 5,958 deaths, there being more than in any other age period except under one year.

State Auditor Tracy's official report for the past fiscal year will furnish some interesting data on the collections of liquor fines, under the Crabbe act, as disclosed by advance reports from that department. The report shows that the state's half of fines collected in the various counties and paid into the state treasury through the auditor's office since the law became operative by the referendum vote at the November election, 1920, amount to $1,965,751.60. The amount collected for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, was $1,245,534.27, an increase over the previous fiscal year of $590,307.57.

Of the total collections since the law went into effect Hamilton county leads with a contribution of $247,921.64. Cuyahoga county is next with a total of $228,146.31. Morrow county has the smallest amount, $25. Other counties show: Franklin, $93,346.60; Lucas, $80,594.57; Jefferson, $77,751.99; Montgomery, $148,490.98; Summit, $124,647.37; Stark, $96,605.23.

Alleging exaggeration in the criticism of the Stewart administration of the state securities department recently voiced by Cyrus Locher, director of commerce, F. M. Hoopengartner, state examiner, in a report to State Auditor Tracy, said the examiner knew of conditions and that it was on the recommendation of that department Commissioner Beck corrected the faults. Holding checks and currency in the department for long periods of time instead of turning them into the state treasury when received was due to the practice of closing up all deals before turning in the money, he said. According to Director Locher $482.26 was on hand in the department when Mr. Beck took charge. Mr. Hoopengartner said the state examiners had noted this when they checked the department prior to the change in administration and had recommended all money be deposited with the state treasurer as soon as received. He said Director Locher made public his criticism without first reading the report of the bureau.

Prospects for a supply of high quality seed wheat in Ohio, particularly of improved varieties, are good, judging from the reports received from inspectors of the Ohio Seed Improvement association, who have just completed the field inspection of almost 5,000 acres of wheat grown by members of the association. Inspections have been in progress since June 11, when representatives started in the southern counties. Their work during the past week has been in the extreme northern counties of the state.

Estimates based on reports made by inspectors from 27 of the 69 counties in which field inspection has been completed, indicate a probable supply of between 40,000 and 50,000 bushels of wheat that has been certified for seed under the rules of this association. A small percentage of this seed may be registered as being of even higher value for seeding purposes than certified.

"About three-fourths of the acreage examined is passing field inspection," said P. G. Bradley, who has been working as one of the five inspectors. "The wheat has been inspected in the field for noxious weeds, mixtures of wheat varieties, and disease. There is very little scab in the wheat this year as compared to last."

The division of plant industry of the department of agriculture has completed plans for combating the European corn borer which has infested Ohio counties bordering the southern shore of Lake Erie. The division is co-operating with the bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture.

There are 70 townships under quarantine along the lake shore. All but three of those were found to be infested with corn borer, Elyria, Riley and Salem townships being included within the quarantine area in order to provide an outlet for the farm products of neighboring townships already infested. In several places, according to Director of Agriculture Charles V. Traux, the infestation extends back from Lake Erie three townships. This occurs particularly in eastern Ashtabula county, in Lake and Geauga combined, and also Lucas, Ottawa and Wood.

The program for this season is to scout the tier of townships immediately adjacent to the infested area and then to skip two tiers and scout the next, which will be the fourth tier from the infested area. In this way it is hoped to discuss whether any moths made a longer flight at the time of the original infestation of the lake shore or not.

In addition to bearing half the expense of the controlling program, the United States government is furnishing especially trained men who are doing important missionary work among the corn growers of the infested district and conducting a laboratory at Sandusky. This work is carried on outside the regular scouting season.

The department of agriculture recommends the following control measures: Cut corn close to the ground and as early as practicable; place as large a part of the crop in the silo as is possible. This should include all waste from canning factories. The fermentation destroys the borers. Shred or cut cornstalks before feeding same; this kills many of the borers and promotes consumption of the fodder. Uneaten cornstalks, including corn stover in the field, lot or barn, or parts of stalks, should be completely plowed under or burned, before May 15, to destroy contained borers.

Sixteen Ohio State university civil engineering students are surveying and working on plans for a portion of the transcontinental highway passing through Ohio via Cincinnati and Portsmouth and on to the Atlantic seaboard through Huntington and Charleston, W. Va. The students are working under the supervision of department faculty members. The work will require between six and seven weeks. The faculty-student party has pitched a camp on the Ohio river at Wrightsville, six miles from Manchester. The state highway department has furnished them with trucks and motorcycle side cars. Junior and senior students comprise the party.

Despite hot weather and frequent rains, excellent progress is reported in the field surveying undertaken by the party. Drafting, designing and estimating are still on the program after the field surveys are finished. All the results of the work are put in standard form in compliance with state and federal requirements.

TROOP FOUR SCOUT SETS NEW RECORD FOR TYING KNOTS

Ralph Kircher Beats Mark Of Raymond Cobourn, County Champion.

A new record for knot tying was set in the opening session of the city scout meet Thursday evening when Ralph Kircher of Troop 4 won that event in 34 seconds. The county champion, Raymond Cobourn of Troop 7, was third, one second behind his troop mate, Clarence Davidson, who finished second in 41 seconds.

Another upset occurred in the 100-yard dash when Kenneth Kelley of Troop 7 won out of his old rival Jim Gregg of Troop 1. Harold Shears of Troop 2 ran third.

Wilfred McCarver carried Jim Gratton over the line first in the 500-yard lift race, repeating their performance in the county event and netting Troop 1 five points. John Negrette took George McCullough over for a second place for Troop 7, while Shears and Jenkins finished third for Troop 1.

The scout pace, which completed the evening's program, ended in a mix-up. Robert Davis of Troop 3 was declared the winner until it was claimed that he had covered one lap more than his competitors. First place was awarded to Negrette of Troop 7 and second to Gregg of Troop 1, allowing no points for third. Troop 3 will appeal the case Tuesday evening. Promptly at 7 o'clock next Tuesday evening at Reilly field the scouts will again assemble to compete in signaling, broad jumping and tent pitching. At present the standing is: Troop 7, 17 points; Troop 1, 11 points; Troop 4, five points, and Troop 3 two points. First place counts 5, second 3 and third one point.

At the close of the first night's competition Commissioner Lee R. Chamberlain announced that a truck from the E. W. Bliss company would call at 1 p. m. Saturday at the home of Councilman H. A. Greiner, 177 Lincoln ave., and later at the Natural Gas company's plant for materials and scouts to go to the Rotary scout reservation where work on the dam will be started, continuing every Saturday afternoon during the summer. All scouts not employed are requested to aid in this work and meet the truck Saturday.

VILLAGE HAS ITS LIGHT TROUBLES

Residents Of Columbiana Complain About Electric Service.

Columbiana, July 12.—For several years, previous to 1921, the village of Columbiana experienced so little inconvenience because of a worn-out electric light plant. In the effort to remedy this condition the council, then in power, began to consider propositions from various electric power companies among which were the Y. O. and the Harmony lines.

The latter was finally decided upon and a contract entered into whereby the Harmony company would take over the local line, make such repairs necessary and guarantee service.

The town still experiences much of the same inconvenience as it did before the Harmony company secured the contract.

It is claimed that the line over which the company is attempting to make distribution is insufficient to carry the current. Consequently, with every electric storm that passes over the town the current is interfered with and the community is left in darkness.

O-Molene sure keeps them working

It Takes Real Mule Power!

IT TAKES real mule power to pull a scraper or plow in heavy soil. But mules that have been fed right can stay with hard work all day long. Just giving your mules plenty of corn, oats and hay to fill them up, won't keep them in sound condition, because these do not supply a work animal with a sufficient variety of diet to keep them in real working condition.

A good mule feed must not only produce lots of energy, but it must be appetizing as well.

Purina O-Molene is a perfectly balanced ration. Better still, the grain in O-Molene is treated by a special process that makes it more easily digested and exceedingly appetizing. Mules love it. You feed much less O-Molene than you do of corn and oats. O-Molene is much nearer completely digested.

Call us up today and learn more about why this is the best mule and horse feed.
